TO A MAN who represents all that is best of the red and the white, who, with the knowledge and understanding of the white man, appreciates the red men whose blood he has. Possessing a portion of tolerance unequaled among today's people and appreciating beyond our ability the progress Montana has made.

With the greatest of pleasure we hereby dedicate the 1933 Sentinel to this representative of early Montana days who will, we hope, be with us for many years to come, to enrich our knowledge of earlier days and to help us learn the many things we have to give thanks for—

DUNCAN McDONALD.

In Memoriam

When we begin our last promenade for our degrees, let us linger in our thoughts with two members who may bring up as ghostly figures in that parade, reaching from across a deep chasm to clasp the hands of their schoolmates.

Along with the lure of rivers of gold and furs of fabulous value that overcame traditional fears and led Old Timers to leave easy jobs, was the spirit of adventure. They say there are no more frontiers, and hence the spirit of the Old Timers has been lost; but with the present day problems incident to world depression, there is no need for anyone to regret that there are no new lands to discover. There is need for new goals and sufficient knowledge so that they may be attained. The Old Timers who had won Montana built Main Hall, having faith that their spirit would be passed on to the present day Grizzlies to give zest and purpose to present-day living.

SCHOOL OF BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION

The School of Business Administration was first organized at the State University in 1914 by a member of the business office. Since then the enrollment has increased to rank the school among the largest on the campus.

This year, the school, under the direction of Dean R. C. Line, added a new feature to its activities in the form of a Forum at which faculty and business men combined to discuss current business problems. The plan was so successful that it will be continued next year.

Various studies as to the cost of living in Missoula were also sponsored by the school. These included detailed analyses of Missoula in relation to the entire country.

The typing fee has been greatly reduced this year in order that more students may take the course. Mrs. Irene Wilson has joined the teaching staff as instructor in typing and shorthand, and Mrs. Frank Thomas has done work in the accounting laboratories. A special course in Principles of Organization and Management is conducted by J. B. Spier, Registrar.

The Commerce club was re-organized this year to include students elected on a basis of scholarship and activity in the department. Membership into Alpha Kappa Psi, men's national professional fraternity, is honorary.

DeLoess Smith

SCHOOL OF MUSIC

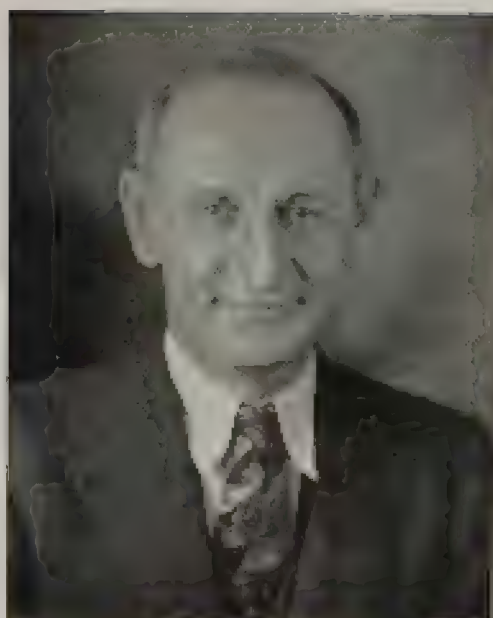

Four men and two women now compose the staff of the School of Music, in contrast to the time of its founding in 1913 when DeLoess Smith, now dean, was at once instructor of voice, sight singing and ear training, director of the glee clubs and orchestra, and teacher of public school music courses. Mrs. Smith was official accompanist and instructor of organ and in addition there was a teacher of piano.

Instruments courses have been added recently in wood winds and brass, under the direction of Stanley Teel, who joined the staff this year and is also director of the Grizzly band. There are also new classes in strings, including violins, violas and cellos.

Recitals have been given this year by the Women's Glee club, the Choral society, recently organized to include both men and women.—John Crowder, piano instructor, and the State University Symphony orchestra, under the direction of Professor A. H. Weisberg, besides the other programs sponsored by the School of Music.

"Rock of Liberty," Pilgrim's Ode by Rossetti G. Cole, given during the spring at the high school auditorium, included a chorus of 90 voices from the Men's and Women's Glee Clubs and the Missoula Choral society, under the direction of Dean Smith, and was distinctive among the events of the year.

Membership of Sigma Alpha Iota, women's national music fraternity, is made up of juniors and seniors who have shown outstanding ability. Two hundred fifty people are now taking music in some form.

Dean T. C. Spaulding

SCHOOL OF FORESTRY

The School of Forestry, developed from a Government Ranger school in 1909 to a part of the State University in 1910 and established by the state legislature in 1913, includes students from almost every state in the union in its enrollment. An undergraduate course of four years allows specialization in the various forestry branches, and a graduate course leads to the degree of Master of Science.

The Forestry club, composed of students and faculty members of the School of Forestry, has the distinction of being the wealthiest in the world, due principally to the large student loan fund it sponsors. Much of this capital is profit derived from the Foresters' ball, the only dance of its kind in the world.

One of the two big projects of the past year was the establishment of the arboretum in the forestry nursery. It extends from the new tennis courts down John's avenue to the Kirkwood Memorial grove, and includes fifteen different species of trees native to this country as well as important exotics from foreign countries. The other project includes experimental work up Pattee Canyon in the Lado National forest, where fifteen hundred acres were loaned to the School of Forestry by the United States Forest Service for experimental purposes. With the help of Reconstruction Finance Corporation labor, fifteen sample plots have been established for experiment in Douglas fir and Western Yellow Pine stands. This work is under the supervision of Professor Fay G. Clark.

Since fall quarter Dean T. C. Spaulding has been on leave of absence, and Professor I. W. Cook has been taking his place as acting dean.

Dean A. L. Stone

SCHOOL OF JOURNALISM

Professor Carl Holiday of the Department of English taught the first Journalism course at the State University, but A. L. Stone, present dean, officially opened the School of Journalism in 1914 by borrowing tents from the Fort Missoula commandant and setting them up over night, unknown to anyone. About fifteen students enrolled, and the canvas classrooms achieved fame, for their pictures were printed in newspapers all over the country. Later a small room was obtained by enclosing an old bicycle shed, used until the state constructed a new "Shack." After the World War, the school moved to its present location in Marcus Cook hall, then the war barracks.

Today it is a class "A" institution, including in its curriculum courses in all forms of news and editorial writing, advertising and printing.

The School of Journalism now owns its own printing shop, and its greatest growth in the past year has been in the printing laboratory. New pieces of machinery, type, linotype magazines and matrices have been added recently, as well as additional laboratory courses.

The Montana Kaimin, campus newspaper published twice a week, is edited entirely by student journalists. The Press Club is open to all students in the school, while Sigma Delta Chi, men's international professional fraternity, and Theta Sigma Phi, women's national honorary, bids students of distinction in the field. The teaching staff includes four members.

During the past year, extended outside contacts have been made, and more than ten thousand inches of general university news have been sent out through the School of Journalism.

Dean C. E. Mellett

SCHOOL OF PHARMACY

This year the School of Pharmacy completes its twenty-sixth year of service. Founded in Bozeman in 1907, with an enrollment of nine students, it was transferred in 1913 to the State University at Missoula. C. E. Mellett, now dean of the department, was the first instructor. The Bachelor of Science degree given originally required only a two-year course, but during the last year a minimum four-year basis has been established.

In June, 1932, the University of Montana gave its first Master of Science degree in Pharmacy, and plans to continue the award. The government has now recognized Pharmacy in hygienic health service and the Veterans' Bureau on the same basis as medicine, dentistry and other professions.

All members of the Pharmacy club, composed of students in the department, automatically become members of the State Pharmaceutical association, Kappa Psi, national honorary fraternity for men, and Kappa Epsilon, women's national honorary, both have chapters on this campus.

About three hundred alumni of this department are practicing pharmacy at the present time, and over fifty graduates and former students own their own stores. Several are in government service and some are representatives of large pharmaceutical manufacturing houses.

The school is a member of the American Association of Colleges of Pharmacy. The three members of the faculty have practiced retail pharmacy and are registered, licensed pharmacists.

Dean Freeman Daughters

SCHOOL OF EDUCATION

Education work, beginning with two courses in 1904 under the Department of Philosophy, became a separate department in 1914 after the passing of a legislative act allowing the State University to issue certificates of qualification to teach, and was established as a school in 1930.

The purpose of the School of Education is the training of teachers, principals and superintendents for Montana public schools. Education majors prepare for supervisory positions, principalships and superintendencies. Practical experience is received in the Missoula city schools and high school. Approximately fifty percent of the graduates of the University secure teaching certificates in Montana.

Working in co-operation with the department is the Board of Recommendations, under the direction of Professor W. E. Maddock, which not only helps to place members of the graduating class in teaching positions, but gives service to all graduates formerly registered with the board. In this way, assistance is given to between 350 and 400 people every year.

The Montana Conference on Educational Problems is held during the summer session each year and sponsored by the School of Education in an effort to reach as many school men and women as possible. Distinguished speakers from other institutions are featured on the program, as well as members of the regular summer session staff.

The regular staff consists of Dr. Freeman Daughters, Dean; Professor W. E. Maddock, who has charge of correspondence study in addition to his other activities, and Dr. W. R. Ames, professor of education and psychology. Mrs. Harriet R. Sedman, Dean of Women, conducts a course in personnel work.

Dean C. W. Leaphart

SCHOOL OF LAW

Montana's School of Law, listed as class "A" and a member of the Association of American Law Schools, offers a degree of Bachelor of Laws to students finishing two years of pre-legal preparation and three years of legal work. It is approved by the American Bar association.

In 1911 when the school was established, it occupied only one floor of the present law building, which was then the University library. The small law library at then contained has grown to a collection of over twenty-four thousand volumes and is increasing each year. Four years ago the Anaconda Copper Mining company donated the seven thousand volume library of the late Senator W. A. Clark, and gifts of Mrs. W. W. Dixon and Judge John J. McHatton have added to the collection.

Law students are organized in the Law School association and outstanding members are chosen for Phi Delta Phi, men's national honorary legal fraternity.

Professor A. K. Smith of North Carolina was added this year to the teaching staff, now composed of four full-time professors. Walter L. Pope and A. N. Whitlock, practicing attorneys, give special lectures. Miss Charlotte Russell is law school librarian.

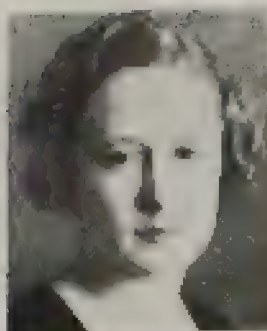

The curriculum has been increased this year to include courses in Creditors' Rights and Municipal Corporations, and summer session courses will be given for the first time since 1925.

A distinctive feature of the School of Law is the use of the honor system, which has been successfully operated since the founding of the institution.

COLLEGE CHUMS

Oft, college chums, dear college chums,
The days may come, the days may go,
But still my heart to memories cling,
Those college days of long ago.

Through youth, through prime and when the days
Of harvest time to us shall come,
Through all we'll bear those memories dear,
Those college chums of long ago.

ADOLPH J. LEWANDOWSKI — Varsity

GLENN LOCKWOOD — Freshman Basketball and track

Coach Bernard F. Oakes completed his second year at the State University after laboring for the two years to develop a successful football team at Montana. With the loss of only two men from the 1932 squad, Bunny looks forward to Grizzly football in 1933.

Harry Adams, Director of Intramural Athletics and former Grizzly athlete, made his debut by assuming the duties of track coach left vacant by the resignation of J. W. Stewart.

Adolph J. Lewandowski, freshman football coach and formerly freshman basketball coach, has taken over coaching the Varsity football team through the resignation of former Coach Stewart.

Glenn Lockwood, former Grizzly basketball and track athlete, volunteered his services as freshman basketball and track coach and was welcomed to the coaching staff in those positions.

ATHLETIC BOARD

Connolly

All major athletic sports in the University are under control of the Athletic Board, which is organized by Central Board and has direct supervision of all the major sports. The board consists of three officers of the ASUM, the president, Peter Meloy, who is presiding officer; the secretary, Virginia Connolly, and the business manager, Ted Mellinger. It also includes the student auditor, Kirk Badgley, one faculty member, and one alumni member.

The Athletic Board grants all athletic awards and all the other insignia within its jurisdiction. It studies the conditions of athletics and forms its policies accordingly, while acting as a co-ordinating agency for all three of the major sports.

Student Managers of Minor Sports for Men:

MICHAEL KENNEDY	Fall and Winter Quarter
EDWARD DUSSAULT	Spring Quarter

Minor Sports, adopted as a part of the regular State University athletic program in the fall of 1928, attracted increased attention since the revival of interfraternity sports competition among the local Greek letter organizations.

The Minor Sports Board of Control is organized by Central Board and composed mainly of members of Central Board. Its aim is the handling of all of the minor sports activities of the campus.

This board sponsored the construction of the four new tennis courts and decided on the rules governing them. It also provided a new backstop for the baseball field.

This year a new custom was adopted of appointing a minor sports manager for each type of sports. For the Fall and Winter sports and intramural manager for that same time Michael Kennedy was appointed. The Spring quarter sports and intramural sports manager was Edward Dussault. Due to this position, the manager is given his athletic sweater.

The assistant minor sports managers have been Howard Bischoff, Marion McCarty and Ogden Tweto.

SUMMARY OF THE SEASON

Montana 13, University of Washington 26; Montana 14, Carroll College 8; Montana 6, University of Idaho 19; Montana 0, Washington State College 31; Montana 7, Montana State College 19; Montana 6, Oregon State College 35; Montana 0, University of California at Los Angeles 32; Montana 13, Gonzaga 56. Totals, Montana 89; Opponents 226.

The Carroll College and Oregon State College games were played on Dornblaser Field, the Montana State College game was played in Butte and all other games were played on the opponents' fields.

RESUME OF 1932-33 FOOTBALL SEASON

Failing to strike the scoring pace predicted by the early season depesters, the Grizzlies faltered in seven of their eight games, winning only from the Saints of Carroll College of Helena. Twice, against the University of Idaho Vandals and the Montana State College Bobcats, the Copper, Silver and Gold Bears were top-heavy favorites but always the scoring punch was absent and a superior attack won. In all other major conflicts the Grizzlies were decisively out-classed by their more powerful gridiron foes.

Montana and the University of Washington Huskies met at Seattle in the first major game of the season. The sustained power of Grizzly line plays became evident as Montana traveled the length of the field to score the first touchdown. The Grizzly showing that afternoon was unexpected and sports writers of the Pacific Coast proclaimed the State University eleven a "power-house." From that day on, the Grizzly squad was respected by all opponents.

A ragged Grizzly club, racked with many misunderstandings, failed to hold the Idaho Vandals in check in the Montana Home-Coming game. Three times Idaho backs galloped over the Grizzly goal line. Montana accounted for one score early in the first half.

The hardest jolt of the season to Grizzly rooters was the 19 to 7 defeat by the Montana State College Bobcats on the Clark Park field in Butte. Montana scored first, as had happened on all previous occasions, but could not hold her advantage. An inspired Bobcat club outplayed a superior Grizzly team.

Washington State College was the first opponent to prevent a Grizzly score when they occasioned a 31 to 0 defeat. U. C. L. A. followed soon after to blanket Montana, 32 to 0.

An angered Grizzly aggregation received the Oregon State College opening kickoff to run it back 70 yards. Two plays later the Grizzlies led, 6 to 0. Again Montana faltered and the Beavers triumphed, 35 to 6.

The curtain dropped on the 1932 Grizzly football season as the Bulldogs of Gonzaga University walloped Montana, 56 to 13. From beginning to end the game was a rough-and-tumble affair. From the morass the Grizzlies counted its casualties and found only two men from the squad missing for the 1933 season. This is reassuring to Montana men because 1933 is another year.

Grizzly "M" sweaters were awarded 20 men: Lief Anderson, Kenneth Carpenter, Arthur Caven, Cal Emery, William Hawke, Dale Hinman, William Hileman, George Kuka, Leonard Kuka, Chalmer Lyman, Gilbert Madden, Tad Meeker, Vern Oech, Monte Reynolds, Nasby Rhinehart, Robert Stansberry, George Sayatovich, Frank Vesel, August Vidro, and Manager Milton Wertz.

For the season's aftermath, sports writers began their annual task of selecting the foremost football players in the several sections of the nation. The Seattle Post-Intelligencer awarded the second team left halfback assignment to Montana's Bob Stansberry and accorded honorable mention to "Hi" Lyman and Angie Vidro, ends; George Kuka, tackle; George Sayatovich, center, and Dale Hinman, halfback, on the All-Northwest eleven. The All-State team read like a review of the Grizzly squad.

To the gallant Grizzly Cubs goes a word of praise. Every day they turned out nearly 50 strong to flaunt the Grizzlies with the intricate plays of their next opponent. All season they did this and then as if to ease the sting of a Grizzly defeat by the Montana State College Bobcats, they trampled the kittens, 19 to 0. The game was played in Missoula and Montana supporters saw future Grizzlies drive and tackle in the only Cub game of the season.

Twenty-four numeral "50" sweaters were awarded: M. Akin, B. Bergeson, V. Bergquist, H. Blastic, H. Brandenburg, V. Cox, H. Cushman, A. Douglas, R. Grattan, S. Hansell, D. Holmquist, G. Jackson, E. Kent, L. Lockridge, L. McClain, M. Newgard, J. O'Brien, J. Previs, C. Sorenson, J. Sullivan, W. Wagner, C. Wilcox, L. White and H. Zenke. Malcolm Stotts was manager.

VARSITY BASKETBALL TEAM

Montana opened the 1933 basketball season with a new coach and a two-game series with the University of Idaho. The opening tussle recorded an Idaho win, but the Grizzlies found themselves and went wild in the second contest, scoring with ease and giving the Montana cohorts an opportunity to ring the bell in Main Hall tower.

Developing with the season, the Grizzlies had alternate periods of victory and defeat, which reached a climax against the State Champion Bobcats on the home court. The two-game series was split, the Grizzlies taking the opener in an overtime period. Later in Bozeman, the Grizzlies broke even with their traditional foes for the first time since those memorial games in 1925. In the state championship race the Grizzlies split with the School of Mines at Butte and lost a lone contest with the Carroll College aggregation. No team could claim undisputed supremacy and the mythical championship.

FRESHMAN BASKETBALL TEAM

Another strong Cub aggregation, numbering 45 men, reported to Freshman Coach Glenn Lockwood at the start of the 1933 Cub basketball season and swept through a strenuous series to lose only one contest, that to the Polson Independents.

The squad has been rated by long time observers of sports at the State University as one of the strongest Cub teams, comparing with the undefeated five of 1932, in the basketball history of Montana.

The eleven players receiving numeral "30" sweaters include: V. Bernquist, H. Brandenburg, H. Blastic, H. Davison, V. Hultin, D. Holmquist, D. Knieval, D. McCulloch, P. Smith, R. West and W. Avery. Monte Smith was manager.

VARSITY TRACK TEAM

Grizzlies lumbered around the cinder path, over the jumps and heaved the weights in the first State University track meet under the direction of a new coach, Harry Adams, to win the State Intercollegiate Track and Field meet and assemble the greatest number of points ever scored by any team in a Montana meet. The State University Grizzlies won 12 first places and tied for another to amass a total of 102½ points.

The only other team to score was the State College with 31½ points—the School of Mines and the State Normal School failing to place any men in the point-winning positions.

Gene Davis, Cub star, turned in a surprise victory by twice defeating Gene Garner, indigible Bobcat star sprinter. Garner came to Missoula with a reputation of having been beaten only by Ralph Metcalfe, Olympic sprint champion. Davis beat Garner by inches in the 100-yard dash and by two yards in the 220-yard dash.

Clarence Holst of the Bobcats set a new record in the 880 yard run with the time of one minute, 58 seconds.

A week later, the Grizzlies journeyed to Moscow, Idaho, and lost to the Idaho Vandals for the fifth time in the running of six dual meets between the two schools, 66 to 64. The relay determined the winner of the meet. At no time were the two teams widely separated in points.

Only one meet remains on the Grizzly schedule at the deadline—the Northern Division of the Pacific Coast Conference will hold its annual meeting at Washington State College in Pullman late in May.

Smallley, Bone, Murray, Stansberry, Adams (coach), McDaniel, Duff, Heller, Oakberg, R. White, Peden, Duff, Hessel, Blitchart, Torgerson,
Burke, Vicksman, Cason, Mancy, Watson, R. White.

FRESHMAN TRACK TEAM

The State University freshman track squad, boasting several former Interscholastic point-winners and a large group of newcomers, showed a well-balanced power on track and field, and will furnish much talented material to next year's varsity team.

The Cub squad, under the tutelage of Glenn Lockwood, freshman coach, includes Wilfred Walkott, Don Knievel, Gene Davis, Don Lindberg, Clarence LaCasse, John Price, Tom Wigal, Ben Taylor, Bernhardt Bergeson, Jack Lubrecht, James Wheaton, William Wagner, Selmon Frisbie and Albert Caldwell. Walkott, Knievel, Davis, Lindberg, LaCasse, Price and Wigal have qualified for nationals, and more are expected to win them in later competition.

This year, the Cubs engaged in several outside meets. The squad defeated the team from Missoula High school, and won from the Oregon State freshmen in a dual telegraphic meet. Several telegraphic meets are scheduled, including meets with the University of Oregon and Washington State College freshmen.

Gene Davis, Cub sprinter and hurdler, showed a burst of speed in a special race during the state intercollegiate meet to win from Gene Garner, State College ineligible star, who had the reputation of being beaten only by Ralph Metcalfe, Marquette University star. Davis won by inches in the 100-yard dash, and left Garner yards behind in the 220-yard dash.

M CLUB TOURNAMENT

Nine new champions were crowned and five men retained their titles in the annual M Club tournament held at the State University March 30. Bob Prendergast displayed a clever offense and great ring generalship to win the M Club trophy, awarded to the best fighter of the tournament. Only one of last year's champions—Ken Carpenter—lost his title, being beaten by Rodney McCall in a close battle.

Bob Prendergast retained his heavyweight title; Melvin Akin took the featherweight crown; James Brown defended his lightweight championship; Rex Henningsen beat off the attack on his welterweight crown; Hubert Zemke stepped into the middleweight title; Felix Hardison won in the light-heavyweight division, and Rodney McCall captured the heavyweight title.

In the wrestling matches, Dick Karnes became the 128-pound champion; Fred Benson retained his 138-pound title; Jack Congill won the 148-pound class; Virgil Stephens stepped into the 158-pound crown; Howard Fogelson ascended the 168-pound throne, and Robert Myers defended his 178-pound championship.

Richard Farnsworth defeated his opponent, 5-2, to win the foils championship of the State University.

OTHER INTRAMURAL SPORTS

More than five hundred students participated in the State University's varied intramural sports program which included competition in basketball, baseball, track, hockey, golf, bowling, tennis and horseshoe pitching.

During the winter quarter, 1933, the department of intramural sports offered basketball, bowling and hockey. The intercollege basketball tournament was won by the College of Arts and Sciences. Three teams, the Lawyers, Business Administrators and the Pharmacists, tied for second place.

Ending a heated struggle between three companies of the Grizzly Battalion and the Band, Company "C" garnered the intercompany basketball championship.

Fred O'Dell won the annual free throw contest, hooping 81 baskets in 100 attempts.

Sigma Nu fraternity won the interfraternity bowling round-robin tournament, defeating a field of six Greek Letter groups. Sigma Chi and Phi Delta Theta tied for second place in the team standings.

Playing in a new tournament instituted in the 1933 sports program, the College of Arts and Sciences won the intercollege hockey tournament.

During the spring quarter, 1932, the men students participated in a successful intramural sports program which included baseball, track, tennis, golf and horseshoe pitching. The interfraternity baseball pennant was won by Kappa Sigma fraternity, by virtue of a win over Sigma Chi in a play-off game after the close of the season.

Two track meets were run; the intramural and the interfraternity. The Freshman class won the annual interclass meet, scoring 30 points. Sophomore and Senior groups tied for second and third places with 35 points, and the Juniors scored 22 points. Kenneth Dufl, frosh sprinter, won 15 points for individual high scoring honors.

The interfraternity track meet was won by Alpha Tau Omega with 25 points. Phi Delta Theta was second and the Independents third.

Rowe Morrell and Jack Currie, representing Phi Delta Theta, won the interfraternity tennis tournament by defeating the Sigma Chi team, composed of Lloyd Andrews and David Rossiter.

John Lewis won from Tom Rowe in the all-University tennis singles tournament in a four-set match. As Lewis was ineligible for intercollegiate competition, Eugene Sunderlin, a semi-finalist, paired with Rowe to represent the State University in intercollegiate matches.

The Independents' foursome won the annual interfraternity golf round-robin tournament with low aggregate scores. Sigma Chi followed closely to take second place.

The novice golf tournament was won by E. Montgomery, followed closely by Eugene Skarie, runnerup.

Rubin Lewon won the championship flight of the all-University golf tournament. Runnerup to the championship and medal finalist was David Fitzgerald.

Ben White defeated William Hawke, defending champion, to win the all-University horseshoe pitching tournament.

The interfraternity elimination tournament was won by the Independents, defeating Sigma Alpha Epsilon, 50-37 and 50-36.

UNIVERSITY SWIMMING TEAM

Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity won the 1933 intramural swimming championship, scoring points in every event to defeat four other groups who were entered. The final standing of the teams was: Sigma Alpha Epsilon, 23; Phi Sigma Kappa, 18; Kappa Sigma, 16; Independents, 13; Sigma Chi, 10.

The feature of the meet was the performances turned in by Joe Turrell, Kappa Sigma, and Robert Bell, Phi Sigma Kappa, who tied for high-scoring honors with 16 points apiece. Turrell won the 100-yard and 220-yard free style races, was second in the 40-yard free style swim, and was second in the plunge for distance. Bell won the 100-yard breast stroke and the 100-yard back stroke, was second in the 220-yard free style race, third in the plunge for distance and fourth in the diving event.

The individual winners were: Albert MacArthur, Sigma Alpha Epsilon—40-yard free style; Joe Turrell, Kappa Sigma—100 and 220 free style; Robert Bell, Phi Sigma Kappa—100-yard breast stroke and 100-yard back stroke; Lincoln Landall, Independents—plunge for distance; William Bippas, Sigma Chi—diving; Sigma Alpha Epsilon—relay race.

Joe Turrell won his heat in the trials of the 40-yard free style race to establish a new State University record of 19.9 seconds.

VARSIITY BASKETBALL

Sigma Chi won the 1933 interfraternity basketball tournament, leading the eight other fraternities and the Independents after a close race for the intramural championship. They won eight games and lost one, nosing out the Phi Delta Theta quint, which took second, and the Kappa Sigma and Delta Sigma Lambda teams, which tied for third and fourth places.

The Sigma Chis' lineup included Blastic, Holtin, Talbot, Indge, Lemire, Bergquist, Metcain and Rowe, with Talbot and Blastic supplying the scoring for the team.

Rubin Lewon and Leland Story of the Kappa Sigma team led the scorers of the Interfraternity league, each of them shooting 70 points during the season.

BUTTE HIGH WINS THIRTIETH INTERSCHOLASTIC

RECORDS SMASHED
IN SPEEDY WINDUP
TO ANNUAL MEET

Sun Breaks Through to Make Final Day Great Success; Bleachers Filled With Enthusiastic Supporters of High School Stars.

Piling up points in every running event of the Thirtieth Interscholastic Track and Field Meet, Butte high school won its tenth victory over state high school track teams on Dornblaser field today. Butte's vaunted stars dashed to victory in spectacular fashion while the Mining City's lesser lights contributed heavily to the total score by picking up minor places.

Five state records tumbled. Distance and speed were at a premium when Bob O'Malley of Butte and his teammate, Doug Brown, Greg Rice of Missoula and Dave Sterling of Bellry established new marks in the 100-yard and 220-yard dashes, 120-yard high hurdles, mile run and javelin throw, respectively.

Butte, with 60 points, had the highest score ever accumulated in an Interscholastic Meet. Missoula has held that distinction since 1915, when they totaled 50½ points.

Standing of the school: Butte high, 60 points; Missoula, 30 points; Carbon, 11 points; Galatin, 10½ points; Thompson Falls, 10½ points; Plains, 10 points; Bellry, 9 points; Columbia Falls, 8 points; Custer, 6½ points, and Stevensville, 5 points.

1932 TENNIS AND GOLF

The State University tennis team made a clean sweep of the 1932 intercollegiate hard-court tennis tournament, winning easily in the doubles and singles competition. Other entrants in the meet were Montana State College, Montana State School of Mines, Montana Normal and Intermountain College.

Tom Rowe, Missoula, and Gene Sunderlin, Missoula, teamed together in the doubles, won the title by defeating the strong State College pair in the final match.

Rowe and Sunderlin, the Grizzly entrants, fought their way through the field to oppose each other in the championship singles match, with Rowe winning when Sunderlin weakened at the end of a 6-0 game, five-set match played at top speed.

Rubin Lewon and Dave Fitzgerald won another state collegiate championship for the State University by outdaying representatives of the State College and State School of Mines on the golf course. The aggregate score of the Grizzly combination was 333 for the 36-hole engagement.

Lewon won individual honors for the 36 holes of play with an aggregate count of 165. He was closely followed by his team mate, Fitzgerald, whose total was 168.

The State College team, consisting of Lee and Purdum, with an aggregate of 380, was runner-up for the title.

1933 TENNIS AND GOLF

Sweeping through the opposition for the second time in two years, the State University tennis team defeated the teams of the other Montana colleges to win the 1933 intercollegiate tennis tournament. The other entries were from the School of Mines, Montana State College, and Montana Normal School.

Cal Emery and Bob Corette, both members of the State University team, met in the final match of the singles tournament, Emery winning from Corette in a close, fast match. The men were evenly matched, and each had come through to the finals with little difficulty.

Emery and Corette, teamed together in the doubles competition, won handily from the State College team of Lipp and Buzzetti and took the state intercollegiate title. The losers were no match for the more experienced University team, which had everything its own way.

The State University made a clean sweep of the minor sports during the intercollegiate meet by winning the 1933 state intercollegiate golf tournament, defeating entries from the other colleges of Montana. Rubin Lewon, 1932 champion, and Phil Patterson composed the State University team, shooting 320 to win from Sanford and Hayes of the State College, who scored 349.

Lewon led the scoring with a 155 total for the 36-hole match, and also led the entries for low score in nine holes with 37. Sanford, State College, was second to Lewon for nine holes, shooting a 39.

A. endeavors to develop a higher degree of sportsmanship, to promote better school and class spirit and to interest women in athletic activities.

Sports including swimming, hockey,

INTERCOLLEGIATE PLAY DAY

Ten women outstanding in athletics this year were chosen to represent the State University at Play Day, an intercollegiate athletic competition held for the first time last spring when ten women from the State College came here for a three-day meet.

The women who made the trip to Bozeman, April 21-23, were: Laura Martin, Sara Miles, Ada Wood, Virginia Bode, Louise Geyer, Helen Mercer, Mildred Dorsey, Edith Hankins and Leola Stevens. Mildred Dorsey and Peggy Wilcox were first and second alternates. The events scheduled included basketball, volleyball, swimming and tumbling. The women chosen to make the trip were judged on a basis of ability in each of these sports.

Associated Women Students of the State University is an organization comprised of all the women students regularly enrolled in the school. Its purpose is the legislation and enforcement of all the rules governing women students in attendance at the University.

Throughout the scholastic year A. W. S. sponsors several important social functions. Co-ed Formal, an annual dance at which the women assume the role of hosts with all the attending responsibilities for the evening, is given each winter quarter.

A. W. S. also sponsors May Pete and gives each year a dinner for senior women, a tea for visiting interscholastic contestants, and a spring picnic. This year, Co-ed Prom, formerly held during the fall quarter and supervised by A. W. S. was not given. Only women were allowed to attend this dance and it was the custom to award prizes for the best costumes and the best stunts put on by sorority groups and the women of North and Corbin halls.

The governing body of the organization is an executive board composed of the officers, chairmen of the standing committees, and representatives from each sorority, women's dormitories, Mortar Board, Tanan-of-Spur, Women's Athletic association and Central Board.

The present A. W. S. was formed in 1914 as the Women's League, later was called the Women's Self Governing association, and in 1924 was organized into the existing organization.

Mortar Board is a senior women's national honorary organization. To be selected to membership of Mortar Board is the highest honor that can be awarded to a woman student at the State University.

Selection to this organization is made on the basis of high scholastic standing, service and loyalty to the interests of the school. It has as its purpose the training of women for service and leadership.

Outstanding women from the junior class are chosen each spring for this honor and are introduced to the student body at the Singing on the Steps during Interscholastic week.

The Montana chapter of Mortar Board, Penetralia, is one of the oldest honoraries at the State University. Founded here in 1904, it was granted a charter by the national organization in 1927 and is included in the sixth regional district of the national group.

Mortar Board for senior women is similar in its purpose and standards to Silent Sentinel, the senior men's honorary organization.

Silent Sentinel is the local senior men's honorary organization. The purpose of the group is to honor deserving men and to furnish them a means of better serving the University.

New members, selected for Silent Sentinel from the junior class on the basis of leadership and service, are tapped by Dean A. L. Stone of the School of Journalism at Singing on the Steps during Interscholastic Track Meet week each spring.

The organization holds regular meetings at which ways and means of serving the State University are discussed and later put into effect.

Silent Sentinel was first organized in 1904 by President O. J. Craig and Professor Robert Sibly. The organization, whose purpose then was the same as it is now, was kept secret until President Clyde Dunniway took charge. The group was then disbanded, due to his discouragement of secret clubs.

In 1921 Silent Sentinel was revived but not as a secret organization as formerly. Dean Stone and J. E. Miller, dean of men, are honorary members of Silent Sentinel.

The group worked with Theta Sigma Phi this year in reviving and publishing "Dirty Sox."

Sigma Delta Chi cooperates with the women's journalism fraternity in sending out weekly news from the State University to approximately eighty weekly newspapers of the state. The winner of the Class C newspapers in the annual High School Editorial contest receives a cup from this organization.

The Grizzly Battalion of the Reserve Officers' Training Corps was first established on the State University campus in 1919, under the National Defense Act of 1916, which provided for a regular army and a national guard and reserve force, and was revised in 1920 to establish a firmer basis.

Enrollment in this unit has grown from 243 to 325 during the last ten years, and 12 officers are turned out a year, to be commissioned as second lieutenants in the Officers' Reserve Corps. Men who do not elect to take more than the two-year course, receive certificates of proficiency for non-commissioned officer grades.

The unit is inspected every year by a representative of the War Department. Major Root of Fort Mifflin conducted the training inspection for 1933, and Colonel J. G. Pillow from San Francisco headquarters, the administrative. In 1928 the Grizzly Battalion was given the rating of excellence which has been held continuously since then and is indicated by the blue star on the uniform sleeve.

Included in the year's routine are the Armistice Day ceremonies, the Track Meet parade and the placing of traffic and field guards during the Meet.

Major George L. Smith, Captain Fred B. Rogers, Captain Albert F. Rothermich, Sergeant Maywood Kirkwood and Sergeant C. W. Peterson are in charge of the local unit.

HI-JINX COMMITTEE

"Must We Go On," a musical revue by Leslie Pace, was chosen as the 1932 Hi Jinx production. More than ninety students took part in this twenty-two scene show, which included singing, dancing, sketches and take offs on campus life. Emma Bravo, assisted by Don Marrs, Betty Kelleher and Oskar Limpus, managed the show. Committees were headed by Tom Coleman, Joy Browning, Nat Allen, Jerome Frankel, Harold Shaw, Alice Taylor and James Likes.

Ticket sales for this show were Adelaide Olinger was elected over Lea Silverman, Lina Greene, Kay Bailey and Virginia Cooney. The popularity contest, ticket sales and advertising were handled by Mercedes Sprague, Margaret Raitt and Stanley Hill.

LITTLE THEATER

Montana Masquers are completing their twenty ninth year of activity, and their first year under their new dramatic director, Barnard Hewitt. One major play was produced each quarter, as well as a number of one-act bills.

"R. U. R.," by Karel Capek, was produced as the major fall play and was given at the Missoula County high school on Thanksgiving, and in the Little Theatre on November 28. This drama of robot rebellion was one of the most extensive and ambitious undertakings in Masquer history. Leading members of the cast were: Ruth Wallace, Leslie Pace, Jerome Frankel, Curtis Barnes, Elmo Cure, Martha Kimball, Gene Manis and Robert Bates. The elaborate and effective settings were under the supervision of Esther Porter, technical director for the Little Theatre. Miss Porter came to Montana from Vassar.

A. A. Milne's "The Truth About Blayds" was the major play of the winter quarter. Produced in the Little Theatre on February 16 and 17, large crowds attended both performances of this English drawing-room comedy, portraying the life of the aged English poet, Blayds. Leslie Pace, Ruth Perham, Helen Marie Donahue, Ossie Taylor, Robert Bates and Don Marrs played leading roles in this production.

"Dr. Knock," a French satire on the pseudo-medical profession, was given in the Little Theatre on April 18 and 19. This was the first production of this play in America and was favorably received by campus and Missoula audiences. Jules Romains has incorporated in this farce clever and sparkling comedy, cutting satire and swift-moving action. Movable scenery and a 1908 model auto were features of the first act. Clever pantomime and characterizations were high lights of the two final acts.

Leslie Pace, Alice Taylor, Don Marrs, Augie Vidro, Mary Isabel

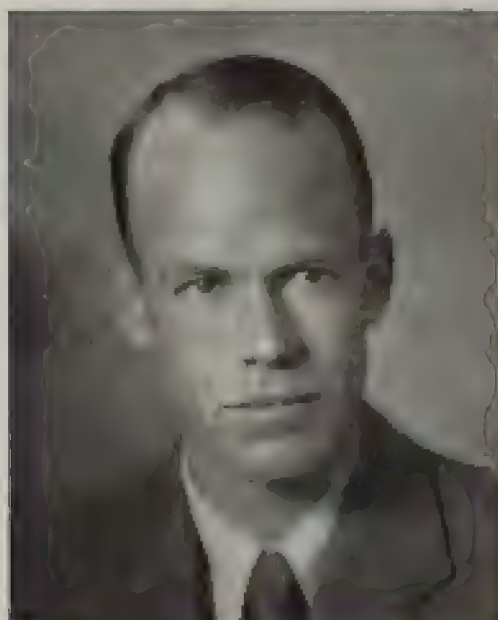

Stewart, Margot Milne, Peter Melloy, Martha Kimball, Eugene Hunton, Phil Pollard and Robert Bates were outstanding in their roles.

Three bills of one acts, all student-directed, were produced during the year. An innovation this year has been the use of settings for these bills, rather than the use of plain drapes. This has added much to the effectiveness of the productions.

"La Mamma del Sol," also a one-act, was produced February 23 on the same program with the Spanish two-act "Asi Se Escribe La Historia," which was produced by the Spanish club and directed by Elsie Fritinger.

"Souls of Consideration," by Melvin Manry, selected as the winner of the Masquer one-act play contest, was produced on the spring quarter bill of one acts. Manry is a sophomore in the State University and his original play, a clever comedy, was well received.

Darrell Parker

Extensive student participation featured forensic activities at the State University this year. Sponsored by the Montana Debate Union, with Harvey Thirloway as president, the popularity of debate as an extra-curricular activity has been steadily on the increase.

Debate activities were mainly with teams from other state schools, and the State University received favorable decisions in a majority of the encounters. The women's team, composed of Helen Huxley, Catherine Sinnott, Dorothy Leonard and Elinore Shields, earned the state championship by victories over all of their opponents.

The outstanding accomplishment was the winning of second place in the Pi Kappa Delta provincial convention at Bozeman the latter part of March. Edward Alexander won the men's extemporaneous speaking contest, Dorothy Fetterly and Donald Creveling placed second in women's and men's oratory, and the two debate teams tied for third place.

Darrell Parker, debate coach, has just completed his third year at the State University of Montana. From the standpoint of student participation and favorable decisions, he has been highly successful.

VARSVITY VODVIL

Kappa Alpha Theta presenting "L'Amour Toujours" and Phi Delta Theta presenting "Whereas, Henceforth and Hereafter" were awarded first places in the 1933 Varsity Vodvil production at the Wilma theater.

Second places were awarded to "Bell's Idea" by Kappa Kappa Gamma and to "It's Not in the Cards" by the Independent men.

Seven acts were entered, among which Alpha Phi's "Pennies on Parade" presented an original theme featuring dance choruses, vocal and violin trios. Something new in Varsity Vodvil skits was given in Phi Sigma Kappa's "Non Compos Mentis," a satire on the dry-wet situation. "Jungle Jingles," by Sigma Alpha Epsilon, offered an excellent orchestra featuring Bill Hawke as a cannibal king.

Varsity Vodvil was particularly successful this year, due to the excellent planning of Richard Schneider, manager of the show, and to the well executed publicity campaign carried out by Tom Coleman, assisted by Stanley Hill and Mercedes Sprague.

The show was run off smoothly under the direction of Richard Shaw, stage manager. Mercedes Sprague conducted the ticket sales and Frank Lenzendrofer was in charge of general details.

STATE UNIVERSITY BAND

The Grizzly band, under the direction of Stanley Teel, is recognized as an essential part of campus activities. The group adds materially to the success of R. G. T. C. parades, rallies and athletic contests. Although the size of the band is no larger than in other years, one of the vital factors in its excellency this year has been the extraordinary amount of freshman talent.

Members of the Grizzly band led the parade preceding the Grizzly-Bobcat game in Butte, and played a joint program with the Bobcat band on Clark field before the game.

During the winter quarter they gave a concert under the auspices of the School of Music. In opening the thirtieth Interscholastic Track and Field meet the group joined the parade of contestants and played during the intermissions.

The purchase of new equipment, including instruments and uniforms, was made possible by proceeds from a band mixer and an appropriation from the War Department at Washington, D. C.

George Boyingbat is the student leader, and Eldon Cooney, manager. The personnel includes: Thelma Back, Willard Peterson, Ernest Logan, Edward Hall, John Downey, Fred O'Dell, Andreas Grande, Arthur DeBord and Philip Manning, cornets: William Whitehead, Milton Anderson, Philip Miller, Mason Melvin, Montague Smith, Carl Pearson and George Baldwin, trombones: John Weaver, James Nash and Archie Kimpel, baritone: Dudley Brown, Dennis Rosveto, Alen LaBar, Richard Arneling and Robert Moody, horns: Edward Jeffery, Jack Waite, Frank Martin and Kermit Eckley, tubas: Leslie Pace, Richard Farnsworth, Wilfred McCrea and Philip Pollard, percussion: Robert Ruchtwain, Russell White, Kenneth Hufford, Leonard Langen, John Shenk, Dorothy Howard, Grant Raitt, Clifford Haggland, Frank Hazelbaker, Carroll Ayers, Lucille Lindgren, Alan High, Wesley Harden and Walton Cosgrove, B flat clarinets: Thomas Crum, Joe Gillen, Beaman Sherman, Paul Reddick and Lloyd Bernhard, saxophones: George Dickel, alto clarinet: William Clarke, bass clarinet: Edward Cooney and Jack Lewellen, flute and piccolo: Leo Valiton, oboe.

INTERSCHOLASTIC TRACK MEET COMMITTEE

As appointees of the Faculty Interscholastic Committee, the Student Interscholastic Committee assumes the governing function of student participation in Interscholastic Track and Field Meet. The group was headed in 1933 by Horace Warden.

Upon the activities of the various sub-committees depend much of the success of the meet. Paul Bischoff, instructor in the Department of Foreign Languages, acts as advisor and is the representative of the Faculty Interscholastic Committee.

Members of the committee and their duties: Horace Warden, chairman; Mary Breen, secretary; Claget Sanders and Lina Greene, house decorations; Lee Kennedy and Mary Breen, campus decorations; Cregg Coughlin, Chief Bear Paw, and Ester Strauss, president of Tanan-of-Spur, supervised their organizations in welcoming participants and guests to Interscholastic; Michael Kennedy and Robert Davis, publicity. An addition to the 1933 committee functions was an information booth in the Florence hotel with Robert Hendon, chairman, Robert Corette, Ted Cooney, James Brown, Emma Bravo and Virginia Connolly, assistants.

WOMEN'S GLEE CLUB

With a membership almost double that of last year, the State University Women's Glee Club, under the direction of DeLaess Smith, dean of the School of Music, spent an active and profitable year.

Its activities include a varied program presented at Main Hall during winter quarter: five numbers on May 12, before the presentation of awards during Interscholastic Track Week; Commencement numbers; a recital in collaboration with the Men's Glee Club at Main Hall; a concert featuring Rosseter G. Cole's "Rock of Liberty" in combination with the Mission Choral Society and the Men's Glee Club. The combined clubs furnished the Baccalaureate music.

DeLaess Smith, director, is satisfied with the progress of the organization, and believes it superior to those of former years.

Its personnel: First sopranos—Margaret Bielenberg, Kathryn Borg, Frances Graves, Helen Halloran, Norma Hammer, Martha Knibball, Eleanor MacDonald, Lotus Melbeck, Katherine Moore, Gladys Mayo, Lucille Sauer, Lucy Strahis, Ossia Taylor. Second sopranos—Martha Averill, Ruth Benson, Jean Britell, Mabel Colby, Harriet Calhoun, Dorothy Clinger, Dorothy Eastman, Annie Evans, Marjorie Fee, Jean Gordon, Edith Hankins, Lara Jean Hunt, Dorothy Howard, Genevieve Krum, Kathryn Potter, Betty Ross, Ellen Shields, Mary Storey, Eleanor Speaker, Peggy Wilcox. Alto—Dorothea Applequist, Mary Brickson, Kathleen Dunn, Martha Davis, Mary Emmett, Lois Elba Howard, Joan Mathews, Alice Helen Patterson, Gladys Swanson, Margaret Sullivan.

DEPARTMENT OF FINE ARTS

The Department of Fine Arts, for the last eight years under the direction of Prof. C. H. Reidell, offers to Montana students courses similar in content to those of the large eastern art schools. Although the basic elements of design, drawing and painting are included regularly, the courses vary each year with changing trends and the student personnel.

Professor Reidell has introduced both a study of color theory and of value tones. The History of Art class, which had its largest membership during the past year, includes a general survey of the art of peoples of all times. In the second year Design classes, actual stage settings are planned. An optional Life class is conducted in the evening. One freshman lecture series sponsored by the department included 25 lectures from outside sources on major subjects as a background for art.

With the resignation of the editor and business manager appointed in the spring of 1932, the Sentinel almost sang its swan song. At a meeting of Central Board in co-operation with Publications Board it was decided to appoint new officers and continue on.

With the beginning of Winter quarter 1933, Mary E. Woody, as editor, and Kathleen Harrigan, as business manager, took over the annual. Handicapped by a late start but aided by an efficient staff and the spirited co-operation of the University student body, the 1933 Sentinel comes to you.

THE MONTANA KAIMIN

Begun as a literary magazine in June, 1898, the Montana Kaimin, official publication of the students of the State University, has developed into a four-page newspaper which appears semi-weekly and chronicles the current events of the campus.

Editorial and business departments of the Kaimin are both in the hands of students. The editorial staff undertakes the news gathering, writing and editing of the paper, while the advertising staff solicits and writes advertising copy.

On February 20, 1933, the Kaimin celebrated its second year of having been printed in the "Shack" on its own press. Equipment of the press shop has been donated by companies and newspaper offices throughout the state.

John Curtis, Libby, and Richard Schneider, Missoula, have been editor and business manager respectively of the Kaimin for the year 1932-33.

The Forestry Kaimin is an annual magazine which acts as a medium of contact between alumni of the School of Forestry and the students attending school. Edited and published by the Forestry club, it has a circulation of nearly three thousand copies.

The magazine contains news of the Foresters' Ball, the Forestry Rifle club, Druids, the Forestry club and such of its activities as the skating rink and intramural sports. The Spring trips of the junior and senior classes in the school are discussed, and articles by graduates of the School of Forestry are published. Another feature of the magazine is a constantly lengthening directory of alumni.

The West, as it is known to Foresters, is featured in illustrations and poetry published in the book. This year the publication is dedicated to Dr. J. W. Severy of the Department of Botany.

BOARD OF EDITORS

RICHARD LAKE	Chairman
JOHN HOUSTON, PETER MELOY, KENNETH PECK, BETTY FOOT
LEONARD KENTFIELD	Business Manager

Collegiana, rediscovered, mimeographed magazine of student opinion and literary efforts, reached the conclusion of its second successful year with the issue printed this Spring. Originated to become a means of encouraging student creative work, it serves much the same purpose as did the early Frontier, before that magazine had outgrown campus contributions.

Short stories, poetry, essays, sketches and controversial articles are contained in each issue.

A board of editors, of students interested in the continued publication of the magazine, decides the policy of each issue. Cornelia Klittke, Hayre, was the chairman of the first year's board of editors, and Richard Lake, Judith Gap, has held that position this year. Leonard Kentfield, Inverness, has been business manager of the magazine. The circulation supplies the sole source of revenue for the publication.

Jessie Treichler

THE ALUMNUS

Alumni of the State University of Montana are kept informed about their school and their class-mates through the pages of the Montana Alumnus, quarterly publication of the Alumni association. Jessie Campbell Treichler has been editor of the Alumnus for the last three years. A feature of the magazine is the Class Notes, a group of letters written by class secretaries telling of the whereabouts of members of their classes. Henrietta Wilhelm is editor of this section of the magazine.

Contributed news stories written by alumni and undergraduates of the State University deal with their jobs and with current university news, respectively. Outstanding alumni are occasionally featured.

The Montana Alumnus first appeared in the spring of 1922, when William J. Jameson was its editor. This spring marked the final issue as the Alumnus will be suspended for the next year.

H. G. Merriam

THE FRONTIER

Outstanding among regional magazines is the Frontier, edited and published by H. G. Merriam, chairman of the Department of English at the State University. A high literary standard is characteristic of all stories and poems published in this magazine, and the Northwest, featured in most of the contributions, receives especial emphasis in a section devoted to the reprinting of historical documents.

Edward J. O'Brien included "An Arrival at Carthage," by Scammon Lockwood, in his collection of "The Best Short Stories of 1932," and he gave highest honors to three others of the Frontier stories.

The Frontier was started in 1919 as a student publication, but it has outgrown that phase of its development. Its contributors today are scattered over the United States. Each quarterly issue contains the most finished work of outstanding writers.

ALPHA DELTA PI

The new name for Zeta Chi. Otherwise it still is Zeta Chi in the eyes of all. As A. D. Pi they boast the oldest sorority in the country. Which would you rather date, an old A. D. Pi or a modern D. G.? An old eye often makes an awful stick. It would make an awful campus stare if A. D. Pi ever amounted to anything. But they do have the Kappa Kappi, the D. G. grade point average, the more hardy members of the Kappa Delt forester following, and the old Alpha Phi house. Typical member. Your guess is as good as ours.

ALPHA PHI

Awfully Phrased or Awfully Phrased, depending on the individual. Chi chapter, signifying chicken, a common characteristic of the group as a whole. Rated awfully strong with the Phi Sigs until they moved next door to 'em—then the boys got wise. Should have wop varsity evolved—just ask 'em. Confidence personified—believe their members capable of holding any or all major publication offices. Hate Mickey Kennedy for butting in. Typical member. THYLLIS LEHMANN. Their motto: "Toujours astute." Oh, yeah!

In this case the Greeks had three words for it—and. Prerequisites for being a Kappa are: An upturned nose; plenty of shakels; and a fairy. They have a nice house. Get special late permission for their dances because Ma Sedman suffers from a Kappa-complex, and like to give the impression they are particular when they get out with. Which is an error. It's an error on the part of any man who gets a date with one. Most of the campus males have discovered that.

KAPPA DELTA

Sigma Chi chapter. But even affiliation with the Sigma Chi's wouldn't make them a strong chapter. Have moved so often that they don't even possess the individuality of a definite home. What does it matter? Typical member: Anyone comparable to Ramona Noll. Major problem: To keep from being recognized as a forestry society, due to the large number of imposters who make the K. D. house their stamping grounds. Phi Sig imposters, but it doesn't seem to help them any.

SIGMA KAPPA

Sincere Kids, because they do so want to be a sorority. But they can't expect male assistance, for the chapter name is Alpha Nu, signifying Awfully Nice. And it's true. They are. But when the Sincere Kids have a big shot they really have a big shot—which is more than we can say for Kappa. Too bad Mumm, Browning and Coe are graduating. Even their houseboy is a big shot. He ran for president of the A. S. U. M. As for a representative member—Mumm's the word. Double Mumm.

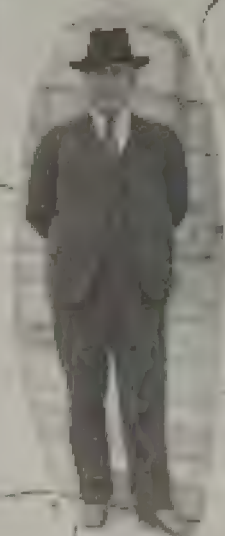

SIGMA NU

Gamma Psi chapter, or Godawini Philanthropists, due to the fact that they sunk so much money into a home for a bunch of nincompoops. Once were a hot-shot bunch of boys. That was from 1908 to 1923. Many people do not know there is a chapter of Sigma Nu on the campus—thank God. All of the BEST faculty members are Sigma Nu's. Tom Swearingen, J. B. Speer, Robert C. Lane and Bucky Melter (who doesn't count because he really isn't bad).

KAPPA ALPHA THETA

Can't Anyone Take it? A common query in the old well-worn Theta parlor. Most of us don't take much from 'em—but their boy-friends do. This high-falutin' bunch of gals have definite ideas about things. For one thing they've finally solved the eternal question—Sigma Chi or Phi Delta? Being out the Sigs ought to celebrate. If the Theta's were as good as they think they are—they'd be better than the Kappa alumnae think the Kappas are—a physical impossibility. Typical members: The crowning, swooning Warden sisters.

BARBS

They ought to have some kind of a pun. They deserve one after sticking out all their years without a frat or sorority house to drink in. But then some say they don't drink. Would it be out of order to say we don't agree with them? Representative member: Pete Moley? If he were, there wouldn't be any Barbs on the campus. No fraternity could stand "being told" every year and naturally they'd pledge. No, if the truth will out, the typical Barb is Harry Billings, who figures prominently (for the first fifteen votes) in every election.

Tri Delt. Try doing it. Won't try anything once. A nice bunch of girls. They've got to be—the housemother won't let 'em be bad. Theta Rho chapter: Thoroughly romantic—but only in the eyes of a Sigma Nu. U. S. L. Kappa Sig or S. P. R. Typical member: Miss fit Montana—Adelaide Olinger and Bob Stansberry. How could we separate the two? (The housemother couldn't.) Major problem: Making grade points—and keeping from being made a fool of. Politically inclined. Picnic dates declined.

ALPHA XI DELTA

Awful Nudgers. Alpha Nu chapter: Almost negative—in numbers, quality and spirit. Not in spirits, however; they like spirits. (Well, who doesn't?) Not a good looking bunch of girls—but the only way you can find that out is to look up their picture in the Sentinel. Few people know an Awful Nudger—and admit it. Typical member: The ghost of Dorothy Briggs, the last of the old brig grade. Major problem: Trying to pledge another Dorothy Briggs. Which brings us to the eternal question—how awful is an Awful Nudger?

IDEAS AND PHILOSOPHIES

Betty Foot, '33

Good Advice

Funo told me—

"If you are wise,
You will smile at him
With slanted eyes.
You will make of yourself
A mystery
That even he
Can never see.
You will be inscrutable.
If you are wise:
Inscrutable,
With slanted eyes."

Mother Eve told me—

"If you would be wise,
You will look at him
With wondering eyes.
You will marvel at
His supremacy,
And adore his Mastery.
You will see in him something
To idolize,
And you'll show him you see it,
If you are wise."

Experience taught me that, of the two,
Either method will nicely do.

Routine is a bloated spider

Binding down the wings of me—
Wings that flickered toward a fire
In a hopeless ecstasy:
Wings that bore me, fluttering,
Heedless, beating on a glass,
Half-unmindful of the thread
That snarled a wing as I flew past.
Fire beckons; bound wings tremble

In a hopeless agony.

Routine is a bloated spider

Sucking out the life of me.

Lady

You are a lacquered box,
Too civilized.
You have contained yourself from prying eyes.
Pandora-like, I hold the key.
One word
Would loose the catch to show you.
Is it absurd
That I should amuse myself with the fancy,
Now and then,
Of revealing your cheap contents to the eyes of men?

Ideas are elusive, stubborn,
Spunkily loyal things,
And forcing them into the garments
of words
Will sometimes damage their wings.

Life is a taunting gipsy, passing by.
Some time I hope to follow her.
Meanwhile, I
Content myself with resting comfortably
Upon Existence's broad, peasant knee.

Had you ever loved me
I would have rued the cost
But had I never loved you,
Think what I had lost!

Spring is in the air today,
I'm on my way to town
To buy a carmine lip-stick
And a jonquil-yellow gown.

ALPHA TAU OMEGA

Delta Xi chapter— which means little or nothing. They still reside (that is the chapter house is still located) on Daly. Since the acquisition of CLUB COPY, they have remodeled their personality until now he is THE representative member. They are the only group on the campus favoring fraternity dormitories built by the University. If the others had houses like the A. T. O. barn they would, too. On the downhill trail, as shown by their inability to hold the only good pledges they got—three or 'em.

DELTA SIGMA LAMBDA

Have so few chapters that their chapter name doesn't matter. In this respect they are exclusive—otherwise open for anyone who wishes to suffer the Hell Gate breezes in the old Sigma Chi hut, which they purchased for prestige. D. S. L. stands for either Dumb Slow Lads or Disgustingly Soler Lads. Take your pick. They have finally succeeded in acquiring a big, brawny, hairy athlete. Their pin is a conglomerate of practically every Greek letter badge, as they were founded late enough (1927) to acquire the bad features of all.

SIGMA CHI

Beta Delta chapter, meaning Better Drinkers, even than the Phi Sigs, A. T. O.'s Kappa Sigs and Spe's). Which proves that they excel in some things besides loving. The chapter is old—so old it stinks. It has existed for years and probably will continue to do so—much to Prof. Schenck's disgust. This tribe has always been generous in displaying the emblem. Many of the brothers are so proud of it they hang several at a time. No. They're not as wealthy as the false front might indicate.

AS WE GO

TO PRESS

ALPHA CHI OMEGA

Still plodding along. Their pin: A harp. They're always harping on something. Which means little peace among the sisters and less with the other houses. Typical member: Scotty Stratton or Stella Fletcher. Personally we'd rather date Stratton. Anyway they have a house and a couple of nice (?) house boys. Always manage to pledge a bunch of girls in the hope that there's greatness in numbers—particularly in campus elections, in which they do very nicely. Major problem: Keeping House-mother Humphrey in a pleasant mood.

PHI DELTA THETA

Ego personated. "If I can't be president, I won't play." A climbing bunch of boys. The D. G.'s have an awful time keeping them from climbing into the sleeping porch. Montana Alpha (the only chapter in the state, thank God!) has grown steadily since the days of the world war. Their pin: A shield and sword. They shield the brothers from graft in campus politics—but if you're not a Phi Delta beware—the sword's for cutting throats and knifing in the back. Typical member: They all are. Montana men have little to do with a Phi Delta—their appeal is purely feminine—if at all.

Which luckily is not enough of a fraternity to bother about—or Ma Sedman would have given them the bonnie long ago. Their pin: A heart, which signifies great lovers. Ask any of the girls on Railroad Avenue. Once had a swarm of track men, but now consider themselves lucky when they can scrape five men together for an interfraternity basketball team. Typical Member: Chuck Caughan. Which may be the reason for the underestimation of SPE. For brevity's sake they only call ONE of their dances a bowery brawl.

DELTA GAMMA

Pi chapter; short for Pi-eyed—practically every week-end, and during the week too. Definite girls; that is, they have definite ideas on prohibition, free love and other things we'd rather not discuss. To be a Delta Gamma you've got to have a capacity—and that doesn't mean a capacity for learning. There's nothing you can teach a Delta Gamma. Most of them have tasted life and found it boring. They look it. But from the male angle—date a D. G. and you won't be bored.

PHI SIGMA KAPPA

Mu Deuteron chapter, meaning in English, Much Drinking. Big hairy he-men who mixed their athletics with heavy drinking and politics. They finally got wise to the fact that their back bill owed by the big husky men would pay off the French war debt, and since then there have been fewer and fewer of the athletes. Major problem: To keep Bob (All-Activities) Hendon in school. Secondary problem: To keep the populace of Missoula (Dean Sedman particularly) from finding out that they haven't outlived their drinking reputation.

SIGMA ALPHA EPSILON

Typical member: Gene Sunderlin. Which is about all that need be said—except, perhaps, that S. A. E. once stood for "Some Awful Eggs," and now implies "Some Awful Egoists." They sincerely believe (which means they are fooling themselves alone) that dear old Sig Alph is supreme on the Montana campus. They will tell you so whether you wish to hear it or not. But S. A. E. is a good national, and it's their own fault they ever colonized a chapter here.

YEBIS CHI

Would be considered the only local fraternity on the campus except for the fact that they cater to women as well as men. Founded this year by AUGIE (ANGELFACE) VIDRO and SI SAYATOVICH (and a couple of other yeggs) in the interests of better beer, anti-Bernard Oakes-ism, and unrestricted study hours, the group has grown steadily (during the ice-boxing season). Received more publicity during the year than the Montana Masquers and Chuck Gaughn combined. Which is a record.

Wasn't the depression terrible?—Excuse us, we thought we were frosh!

KAPPA SIGMA

Delta Omicron chapter, meaning in English, Definitely Out, as attested by their present state of lethargy. If four or five of the remaining brothers graduate they will be all out—of school, and Ma Sedman will rest much better. Typical member: HERMAN (ED WYNN) DICKLE. The old chapter house on Gerald was given up this year in order to facilitate purchase of more beer. During rush week they rented the old domicile behind Corbin hall. This likewise was given up after they got their ONE pledge. SINCE then they have scattered far and wide.
